GREEN BANANAS:

AN INGREDIENT CONTAINING RESISTANT STARCH

Green bananas are a versatile, naturally sourced raw material, ideal for the functional food industry. In powder form, they can be easily incorporated into mixes, beverages, baked goods, snacks, and other formulations.

It stands out for its content of more than 40% resistant starch, a carbohydrate that reaches the colon, where it can be fermented by the gut microbiota. As a result, it is an ingredient of interest for developing products that contribute to functional nutrition and digestive well-being.

RIPE BANANA

They provide the fruit's natural sweetness and distinctive flavor profile, making them a versatile ingredient for the food industry. Available in powdered and dried forms, they are ideal for making beverages, mixes, snacks, baked goods, and other nutritional products.

PRIVATE LABEL

We develop private label solutions tailored to your brand across a versatile range of formats: Powder, Dried, Syrup, Capsules, and Extracts. From ingredient selection to the final product, we support your business in bringing innovative superfood products to market.
