Your product ambition. The right capabilities. Tangible results.

Nutrition and enjoyment?

Balance nutritional goals with the taste, texture and sensory experience consumers expect.

What makes it possible

AGRANA's formulation expertise combined with a broad portfolio of sweetening, flavoring and functional ingredients.

Examples include solutions for protein enrichment, fiber integration and sugar reduction, alongside texture, mouthfeel and stability requirements.

New product opportunities?

Turn emerging consumer needs and market trends into relevant product concepts.

What makes it possible

Consumer and market insights linked to R&D, application expertise and customer co-creation.

2,000+ new products launched with customers annually in food and beverage solutions.

Less complexity?

Bring taste, texture, nutrition, functionality and processing requirements together.

What makes it possible

Complementary ingredients and formulation know-how, brought together in tailored, multi-component systems.

All-in-one solutions combine multiple components in one system. A global portfolio of 10,000+ customer-specific SKUs spans preparations, beverage bases and flavors.

Ready to scale?

Develop formulations that meet the demands of industrial production.

What makes it possible

Application and process expertise spanning formulation, testing and production implementation.

Pilot-scale application capabilities and solutions tested under industrial production conditions.

From insight to scale, together.

Insights → Concept → Formulation → Application → Scale

AGRANA connects development and application expertise across your product journey, building on long-standing customer relationships.

Key-account partnerships spanning more than 20 years.
